MCCARTHY-ARMY HEARINGS START TODAY

McCarthy And Army Hearings Clarified

WASHINGTON, Apr. 22, AP — Here's a summary of what the Army-McCarthy hearings are all about:

The Army charged that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Counsel Roy M. Cohn and Executive Director Francis P. of McCarthy's permanent investigating subcommittee used "improper means" to pressure the Army to give special treatment to Pvt. G. David Schine, friend of Cohn and former unpaid chief consultant of the subcommittee.

McCarthy denied this and countercharged that the Army tried to use favors for Schine to pressure the subcommittee into calling off its investigation of Communists in the Army. He said it also tried to get the subcommittee to turn its inquiry on the Navy and Air Force.

He also charged that Assistant Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel, a "master-minded" man, was the Army's chief agent in an effort to discredit the subcommittee because it planned to investigate Hensel.

Along the way, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Army Counsel John G. Adams became principal figures. McCarthy aimed most of his charges at Adams. Stevenson stepped in after McCarthy had severely criticized Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commander of Camp Kilmer, N.J.

The running row started on Jan. 31 when Maj. Irving Peress, an Army dentist at Camp Kilmer, refused to tell McCarthy whether he was a Communist. Peress was honorably discharged shortly afterward and McCarthy demanded that the Army explain.

McCarthy questioned Zwicker about the case. Stevens Hensel about the case. Stevens Hensel promptly accused the Army of having tried to "blackmail" him out of investigating Reds in the military.

The controversy had become a national sensation by then and there were demands for a full-dress investigation. Although there was some pressure for another committee to handle the inquiry, McCarthy's own subcommittee took over.

McCarthy stepped aside for the hearings. Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) became acting chairman and after much delay, Ray H. Jenkins of Knoxville, Tenn., was hired as special counsel.

Both the Army and the McCarthy-Cohn-Carr side then filed formal statements of charges. With the subcommittee and the hearings actually got under way today.

Pseudo-Liberal Aid Reds, Army

WASHINGTON, AP — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today that "pseudo liberals" may do more to further the Communist cause in this country than the Communists themselves.

In a speech accepting an award of merit from the 63rd Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Hoover said "otherwise respectable, seemingly intelligent persons, perhaps unknowingly aid the Communist cause more effectively than the Communists themselves."

"The pseudo-liberal can be more destructive than the known Communist because of the esteem which his cloak of respectability invites," he said.

President Eisenhower, whose wife Mamie is a DAR member, was to address the daughters later today.

Hoover said that one of the difficulties in fighting Communism in this country is that "whenever one has dared to expose the Communist threat he has invited upon himself the adroit and skilled talents of experts of character assassination."

Science Produces Fresh Water From Sea Water

WASHINGTON, Apr. 22, AP — Scientists working on the Interior Department's saline water program said today they know how to convert sea water into fresh water economically on a mass production basis.

Estimated costs range from 30 cents to $1 for each 1,000 gallons of converted water.

One method, utilizing high temperatures and pressure about 300 times that of the surrounding atmosphere, would produce fresh water within the range of 30 cents to 80 cents for 1,000 gallons.

Another method, using solar energy to desalt water, would bring the cost to an estimated $1 per 1,000 gallons.

Nuclear Development Associates, White Plains, N.Y., said their estimate of 30-80 cents for 1,000 gallons was based on a 75 million gallons a day plant. The distilling plant would cost about $40 million.

The cost estimates came from a two-day closed conference called by Interior Secretary Douglas McKay to discuss the department's water conversion program and plans for continuing it. More than a score of consultants and contractors attended the conference.

Dr. Kenneth C. D. Hickman, Rochester, N.Y., discussed the basic research he has made in a compression distillation development for the Badger Manufacturing Co., Cambridge, Mass. He said water can be evaporated at a fraction of the energy heretofore thought possible, through a mechanical process to encourage rapid boiling.

Department officials believe this process will cost present costs of $1.50 a 1,000 gallons by 50 percent.

Solar energy presents an attractive possibility for desalting water in areas where solar radiation is high. Some of the conferees concluded that emphasis should be placed upon the development of simple solar distillers for possible mass production. They estimated this method may bring down the cost of water conversion to $1 for 1,000 gallons.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor:

This is to thank all of the good citizens of Callaway County for the excellent support given the 1954 campaign for the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children.

This year a total of $1,379.94 has been raised through the contributions received from the sale of Easter Seals, the schools and the camps placed in business houses. Contributions are still coming in.

At this time we would like to acknowledge our appreciation for the outstanding publicity given by Jim Williams of the Murray Ledger and Times, Ed Griffin of the radio station WNBC, and Frank Lancaster, manager of the local theaters.

The educational program developed by W. Z. Carter, Buron Jeffrey, Esq. Genter with the cooperation of the principals and teachers of the city and county schools was a valuable contribution to the success of the campaign.

The willing cooperation of Glenn Doran of the Peoples Bank who has been the county campaign treasurer was essential to our success.

Last but not least, we want to sincerely thank T. O. Turner for not only his work but his able guidance which his 30 years of experience with the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children have given him.

Sincerely,
Howard Ollis
Jerry Dent

Firemen Called Out On Wednesday

Firemen were called out two times yesterday. Yesterday morning they were called to 1112 Elm street where a washing machine motor became overheated. Little damage other than to the motor resulted.

Yesterday afternoon firemen were called to the Taylor Implement Company building where a welder torch had ignited some gasoline. The blaze was extinguished with little damage resulting.

Jury Finds For Neither In Wreck Case

The jury yesterday returned a verdict for neither the plaintiff nor the defendant in the case of Elroy Sykes vs. Max Walker, in Callaway Circuit Court.

The case involved an accident between a truck driven by Herman Witty for the Sykes Plumbing Company and a Ford driven by Burton Holsapple and owned by Max Walker.

The accident occurred in January of this year at Midway, South of Murray.

The incident came about when the car and truck collided as the truck was turning from the highway to the East at Midway. Both vehicles were traveling South at the time.

It was testified that the truck was knocked 75 feet by the impact and that the truck sheared a gas pump off its base in front of Adams Grocery.

This morning Judge Smith appointed Rudy Hendon, Hugh Gingles, and H. C. Corn as Jury Commissioners. They were directed to clean out the jury wheel and place new names in it. No less than 500 names are to be placed in the wheel and no more than 600.

The next case on the docket for this term of Circuit Court is Dr. A. D. Butterworth vs. Gerald and Ralph Richardson. The case involves an accident between the two parties in January of 1952 at the intersection of North Fourth street and Chestnut.

In the trial in August of last year Dr. Butterworth was given a judgment, but when the case was appealed it was directed that the case be retried in Callaway Circuit Court.

Woman Sought On Kidnap Charge

NEWPORT — The FBI began a wide search today for Bertha Jane Miller, 36, Newport, charged with the kidnap of a 4-month-old baby.

The baby, Janie Marie Kempin, was found in Nashville, Tenn., where she had been given to a salesman. Her mother flew home with the child yesterday.

The FBI filed kidnap charges against the woman in Federal Court at Lexington.

Salesman Lloyd Duff in Nashville said the baby was given to him by a woman he met by chance in a restaurant.

The Miller woman was held in Nashville last week on vagrancy charges for three days until preliminary adoption arrangements could be made and then she went free, posing as the widowed mother of the baby.

Mrs. Kempin said the Duffs provided well for Janie Marie. She said "They had bought a baby carriage, a stroller, a crib, and all new clothes for Janie."

Mrs. Kempin and Mrs. Duff agreed to exchange visits this summer. She is estranged from her husband, Jasper C. Kempin, and went to work in nearby Cincinnati, April 13 and left her four children with the baby sitter.

When she returned home, the older children told her the sitter had taken them to a tavern, then sent them home without Janie Marie.

The Duffs paid the Miller woman's bus fare to West Memphis, Ark., where she said she planned to live a while with an aunt, Mrs. Charlie Miller.

General Says McCarthy Tried For Commission For Schine

By RAYMOND LAHR and HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondents

WASHINGTON, Apr. 22, AP — Maj. Gen. Mmes W. Reber testified today that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) tried repeatedly to get an Army commission for an aide, G. David Schine.

Reber, former liaison officer between the Army and Congress, was the first witness in the Senate investigating subcommittee's public inquiry into a months-old feud between McCarthy and the Army.

The general testified that he went to work at once on McCarthy's request but that in the end Schine's application was rejected. Schine, then an unpaid consultant of the Senate subcommittee, eventually was drafted.

The present hearings, opened before television cameras in a jammed Senate caucus room, are an investigation of Army charges that McCarthy and his subcommittee chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, tried by "improper means" to get special treatment for Pvt. Schine. They also involve counter-charges by McCarthy and Cohn that the Army used Cohn as a "hostage" to "blackmail" them into calling off investigation of alleged Communist infiltration of the Army.

Reber testified that the efforts to get a commission for Schine started when he was summoned to a conference in McCarthy's office last July 8. Cohn joined in the discussion.

Subsequently, McCarthy and Cohn repeatedly urged speed in the attempt to make Schine an officer because the subcommittee aide was about to be drafted.

Reber said Cohn called him on the average of "two or three times a day" between July 17, 1953, and the end of that month.

Reber also said that during that period he received "two or three calls directly from" McCarthy "urging the necessity for speed in this case."

Reber was Army liaison officer with Congress at that time. He is now commanding general of the U. S. Army in Western Europe. Schine, now an Army private, was then unpaid consultant to the McCarthy subcommittee.

Asked by subcommittee counsel Roy H. Jenkins if he felt that McCarthy was "high pressuring" him, Reber said:

"No sir, I did not feel he was high pressuring me although I felt he wanted a favorable answer."

But at another point, in response to a question by Jenkins, Reber said: "I felt I was being put under definite pressure" by Cohn.

Reber, a big balding man, said that as head of legislative liaison his duty was to keep the Army informed of the progress of legislation and other congressional matters.

He said that on July 8, McCarthy called him and asked him to drop around to the senator's office. Reber said he complied.

In the senator's office, McCarthy told him he was "very interested in obtaining a direct commission for Mr. G. David Schine."

McCarthy, accompanied by his wife Jean, who was on crutches, drew a big cheer from the crowd packing the caucus room as he made his way to a seat at the end of the long committee table.

The McCarthy's arrived at 10:35 a.m. EST—five minutes late. McCarthy sat in a chair behind the table.

Assistant Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel, a late addition to the principals in the case, arrived alone a few minutes early.

The hearings began before the staring eyes of television cameras in the ornate Senate caucus room, which was jammed with congressmen, reporters, and a relatively small number of lucky spectators who managed to squeeze in.

Police tried to provide sitting and standing space for somewhat more than 450 persons. But half the space was reserved for subcommittee members and staff, principals and witnesses, and a record 120 reporters. Another 80 seats were reserved for congressmen and their families.

Martha Raye Marries Again

WESTPORT, Conn. — Movie and television star Martha Raye honeymooned today with her fifth husband, a dancer she met backstage at her TV show.

Miss Raye flew to Alexandria, Va., Wednesday to marry the dancer, Edward Thomas Begley, in a ceremony so quiet it caught just about everybody, including her friends, off guard.

The marriage was Begley's first. He is 30, seven years younger than the wide-mouthed comedienne.

SPORTS

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

NEW YORK, Apr. 22, (UP)—The
faintest signs of panic were evident in the upper echelon of the New York Yankees today as incubations persisted that this may be the year in which the five-time world champions tumble from their lofty perch.

Certainly the Yankees didn't
look like the diamond supermen
of old in splitting their first six games. Nor did the opposition—
most of it of second division caliber—roll over and play dead.

What will happen, the rest of the league must be wondering.

The real challengers can't get it into their heads that this is just another ball club?

Going into Wednesday's game at Boston, in which the muted Yankee lumber finally started sounding off, the Yankees were in pitiful shape. Only one of regulars,

Hank Bauer, was hitting over 300. The next best was Phil Rizuto at .294 while the rest were out of sight.

Casey Stengel really had cause
to fret and fume with Gil Mc-Dougald batting .190; the "big club," Yogi Berra, swinging at a futile .167; the bat of Mickey Mantle whispering along at a .169
clip and Gene Woodling hitting
.154.

They'll do better, naturally. But how much better and will it be good enough to meet the challenge of the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians?

Stengel is worried. Proof of that was the way he rapped the fielding of McDougald and Rizzuto.
There isn't anyone in baseball who would begin in innuendo that either the "Scout" or the lanky Scotsman don't always give their best. Stengel did. His assertion was that they weren't getting to some balls that they should put in their pockets and that too many unwarranted hits were trickling through.

When you get to putting the knock on such as Rizzuto and Mc-Dougald, a pair of perennial collegians in the old college try department, you are knocking yourself out to hypno a fading stretch runner.

Stengel apparently is pulling all the old psychological stops—even this early in the season. He made no comment when Mantle fanned four times on one game, once with the bases loaded in the ninth. Yet he was quoted rather unbelievably, after Mantle hit a long triple against Washington, as having said:

"It was one of the most dramatic drives of my long baseball experience."

What he probably said was:

"The kid sure hit a helluva shot."

What he could have added was:

"But not often enough."

The answer is that the Yankees to date simply haven't been hitting and, unless your pitchers throw a shutout every day you can't win without a few runs. In the first six games against Washington, Philadelphia and a threatening young Boston team, which still isn't ready to go all the way, the best the Yanks could do was split even. They won because in the three winning games the Yankee pitchers gave up a grand total of one run. The worst team in the baseball ought to win

those kind of games.

This is not to say that the Yankees won't get back in the groove and make it six in a row.

But off 'em, what they've been showing this far, they shouldn't.

At the current rate of base hit exchange, the Yanks won't win
it. The rest of the league will have to lose it.

SOCIALITE ADOPTS TWINS

ADOPTED under a cloak of secrecy three months ago, twin 11-month-old boys are carried from church in West Palm Beach, Fla., following their christening, by Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard and Thomas Chamberlain of Chicago. One hundred prominent socialites gathered at a reception given by Mrs. Hubbard prior to the christening. The twins were named Harold Fowler McCormick Hubbard and John Rockefeller McCormick Hubbard. Mrs. Hubbard is the granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller. The twins some day will be heirs to a $40 million fortune. (International)

THE HANOI-HAIPHONG HIGHWAY, vital life-line for food and supplies to French Union beleaguered forces holding out against the Red-led Vietminh rebels at Dienbienphu, Indo-China, is under constant Communist sabotage. At top, a captive, wounded in ambush, is being helped to a first aid station. Below, a soldier guards the right-of-way in front of a barbed wire entanglement. The railroads are guerrilla targets. Constant repair and vigilance are required to keep them in operating condition. (Teleneu Newsreel Photos from International)

PASTOR BLESSES THE BRENNANS OF CHICAGO

THE THOMAS BRENNAN FAMILY makes its annual pilgrimage to Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Chicago where they receive a blessing from Father Jerome Depender. Each of the children is dressed in an Easter outfit designed and made by "Pop" Thomas Brennan. Members of the Brennan family are (l. to r.): Mrs. Brennan; Anne, 14; Cecelia, 13; Rosaleen, 12; Kathleen, 11; Margaret, 10; Thomas, 8; Patrick, 6; Michael, 5; Bryan, 3; Sean, 2; Seamus, 14 months, and Mr. Brennan.

New Facilities
Are To Be Dedicated

Frankfort, Ky. — Dedication of new facilities at Pennyville Forest State Park has been set for the weekend of May 14-16, according to a statement issued here today by Conservation Commissioner Henry Ward. The park, located nine miles south of Dawson Springs on Ky. 100, has undergone extensive improvements, including complete remodeling of the lodge—with the addition of a dining room, lounge, and kitchen, and the construction of eight new one and two bedroom cottages. The Dawson Springs Community Development Association will sponsor a dinner Friday evening, May 14, in the new dining room. Dedication ceremonies will highlight the evening's program directed by James H. Harned, president of the association. May 15 and 16 will be devoted to an open house within the park. New additions to the park, as well as all other facilities, will be formally opened for inspection by the public. "Persons who have been at Pennyville Park in the past will be amazed at the changes which have been made since last summer," Ward said. "The new lodge building is one of the most attractive in the state. Seven of the new cottages are located in a secluded area on the lake, so that guests may go fishing or swimming direct from their own cottages. New roads and parking areas have been built, and an extensive landscaping program has been carried out. The improvements include a new entrance for the park on Highway 109."

Five Years Ago Today

Ledger & Times File

April 22, 1949

Letter Carriers from the West Kentucky District Association of Letter Carriers will meet in Murray tomorrow. C. B. Ford will preside at the dinner.

Walter Moser, Jr., left Thursday for Louisville to attend the Constitutional Convention of the Kentucky Youth Assembly Saturday. He was elected secretary of state of the assembly in March.

Frankfort, April 22 (UP)—The recent special session of the Kentucky Legislature cost the state exactly $98,- 582.45, according to the state Department of Finance's monthly report.

Circuit Court adjourned today until Monday morning.
The league-leading Cincinnati Reds intended to stay the way today as they picked Howie Fox to open their first road trip series against the Pittsburgh Pirates at Pittsburgh.

Ending tonight at the Varsity Theatre is "The Babe Ruth Story" starring William Bendix and Claire Trevor.

GOOD EVENING, GOVERNOR

MARYLAND'S Gov. Theodore McKeldin does a double take in Philadelphia as he sees Willie, the penguin, stroll by on a leash with Steve Rudofker of Huntington, W. Va., and Miss Roma Paige.
The occasion is a men's formal wear convention. Willie, of course, wears a tuxedo. (International Soundphoto)

'LOTS OF BABIES'

BACK AT WORK, Marilyn Monroe is shown in her dressing room in Hollywood, where she told reporters her plans for the future as Mrs. Joe DiMaggio call for "lots of babies." (International)

SPORTS

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

NEW YORK, Apr. 22, (UP)—The
faintest signs of panic were evident in the upper echelons of the New York Yankees today as indications persisted that this may be the year in which the five-time
world champions tumble from
their lofty perch.

Certainly the Yankees didn't
look like the diamond supermen
of old in splitting their first six games. Nor did the opposition—
most of it of second division caliber—roll over and play dead.

What will happen, the rest of the league must be wondering, if the real challenges ever get into their heads that this is just another ball club?

Going into Wednesday's game at Boston, in which the muted Yankee lumber finally started sounding off, the Yankees were in pitiful shape. Only one of their regulars, Hank Bauer, was hitting over 300. The next best was Phil Riz-zuto at 294 while the rest were out of sight.

Casey Stengel really had cause
to fret and fume with Gil Mc-Dougald batting .190; the "big
club," Yogi Berra, swinging at futile .167; the bat of Mickey Mantle whispering along at a .163
clip; and Gene Woodling hitting
.154.

They'll do better, naturally. But how much better and will it be
good enough to meet the challenge of the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians?

Stengel is worried. Proof of that was the way he rapped the fielding of McDougald and Rizzuto.
There isn't anyone in baseball who would begin in inanimate tilt.

Kentucky Belle

April 22, 1954

Hello again to everybody.
Spring is here again after so long a time and everyone seems to be very busy planting gardens and house cleaning.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flood and daughter, Mrs. Hilda Hughes and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Flood and children of Paris, Tenn., were the Easter Sunday guests of Kentucky Belle and husband, Mrs.
Martin Flood is a sister to Kentucky Belle. Riley Parks of Murray, was also a guest in the home.
John Cannon and Miss Claudine Redman of Paris, Tenn., were married, Saturday night at eight o'clock in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Redman.
Miss Hilda Hughes was maid of honor. David Reed served as best man.

Mrs. Bill Thompson of North 13th Street, is now by the bedside of her father who is very ill.
A large crowd attended church at Five Points, Sunday afternoon.
I learn that my nephew, Rusty Flood, of Puryear, is strutting a new Oldsmobile. I wish he would come take me for a ride.

Mrs. Eddie Morton and son, Jerry, who have spent the past weeks with relatives and friends in Indiana, have returned to their home on North 13th St.
May God bless everyone.

PROPOSED NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE U.S. ARMY

NEW ARMY UNIFORMS, grey-green in color and proposed for general duty wear, was shown at the Pentagon for the first time. If adopted, the uniform will mark the first trend away from familiar khaki and olive drab shades in more than 50 years. It will be worn by officers and enlisted men. Left to right: Capt. Joseph P. Love, Phoenix, Ariz., in the general duty uniform, alike for both officers and men, except for ornamentation; Cpl. Cornelius Sullivan, New York City, in the general duty uniform; Dress blues, optional for ceremonial occasions, are modeled by Lt. Robert Lynd, Staunton, Va., and Cpl. Ralph E. Frost, of Rochester, Wis.

Dumaine, Jr., indulge in a friendly handshake in New Haven, Conn., before counting of proxies in their contest for control of the $500,000,000 line. McGinnis won. (International Soundphoto)

Fast Drivers Not Exactly Worst Ones

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON 19—You may think that the most dangerous driver on the roads are those that zip along at 80 to 90 miles an hour. According to L. M. Van Noppen, this isn't exactly true. V. N. happens to be a V. P. of Universal City Commercial Investment Trust, and his guesstimate some 30 million miles of auto travel every year. These fellows clock the everyday driver as well as the Sunday goofs, including women.

Vice President Van Noppen has come out with a report on what he likes to call "roadbirds." He tells me that there are dozens of these "birds" that ought to be avoided or done in—the characters that bring the ambulance screaming, be you another driver or a walker.

He has listed a bunch of 10 drivers to look out for if you want to get where you are going without winding up on a slab in the morgue.

Van Noppen has written a glossary, which ought to be posted on a lot of walls.

First there is the guy who thinks the definition of a split second is the time between the change of the light and the honk of the horn behind him. Our man calls that guy a "hornblower."

Then there is the "creeping heartstart." The jerk who lets the clutch take over and begins crawling ahead while the light is still red.

The "bull-headed crasher." That is the driver who jams his way into the line of traffic, forcing other drivers to stop, and maybe knocking fenders or possibly racks up an innocent street-crosser.

The "red-nosed road runner." He's easy to spot if you are behind him. He has stopped at too many "get milled." Good idea to stay behind him.

The "tunnel-eyed whizzer." The guy who can see only straight ahead. He makes a fast pass at every crossroad without looking either hither or yonder.

The "bright-eyed blunder." Every sensible driver recognizes this fellow.

The "compulsive passer." The man who, on the final count, doesn't live very long. He passes everything on the road.

The "fencer sitter." The guy who doesn't know where he is going or how he is going to get there, but stops in the middle of traffic to ask his spouse, or look for road signs.

The "wood-headed scene watcher." The bird who has to look for native birds or a rare bush under a tree while driving.

And finally, the "large-mouth jughead." That would be the "hot-rod," so called. Not all of these kids are a menace; most of them have better sense. But some are bad to the bone.

Amen, Brother Van Noppen. You got it straight.

STUDIOS DOCTORS
HARTFORD, Conn. 19—A Hartford County Medical Association poll showed that most doctors "go to school" all their lives. The poll disclosed doctors study the equivalent of three months each year, keeping up with new medical developments.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
WASHINGTON 19—Backstairs at the White House:

President Eisenhower a few days ago received 100 "great books" which form the foundation of the curriculum at St. John's College in Annapolis, Md.

The 100 volumes were piled on a table in the President's office for the ceremony. The one book

THREE MONTHS after declaring he was awaiting death eagerly, Father Julius Buss, cancer-stricken priest, is showing remarkable improvement since the Easter season. Now able to take food through the mouth again, the former Army chaplain enjoys a malted milk at Parsons, Kan. (International) he spotted and remarked about was "Democracy in America," written in the early 19th Century by Alexis Charles Henri Clerel de Tocqueville.

The President said he'd always wanted this historical classic, but thus far had used only excerpts from the book.

The Chief Executive will make his annual visit to the baseball park Tuesday to throw out the first ball at the opening day game between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees.

Mr. Eisenhower's knowledge of the players and the situation in the big leagues is much better at the start of this season than it was last year.

Shortly before his inauguration, the President confided to a group of sports figures in New York that although he had played both baseball and football in his youth, he knew much more about present day football than he did baseball. He explained that he spent so many years overseas that he lost track of the big leagues. He kept up with the Army and Navy football teams, however, and through this, he got a pretty fair idea of what was going on in college football.

He remembers his days on the West Point baseball team quite fondly, even though a football knee injury ended his diamond career.

One of his most treasured souvenirs is a box score of a game played by Army, D. Eisenhower was an outfielder and O. Bradley was in the infield. The "Bradley" turned out to be Gen. Omar Bradley who made five stars and chairmanship of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

If the President's mind turns to golf while watching the opening day baseball game, its understandable. A few minutes after the game he'll fly to Georgia and his beloved Augusta National golf club where the big Masters tournament wound up Sunday.

Lambs Will Bring More This Spring

Frankfort, April 15—Recent compilation by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture of spring lamb marketings in Central Kentucky substantiate the claim of Kentucky livestock farmers that the lambs produced in the State are of exceptional quality and bring premium prices. The four marketing centers of Central Kentucky—Lexington, Danville, Paris, and Winchester averaged $25.94 per hundredweight during the 1953 sales season, approximately $3.00 per hundredweight above the national average for spring lambs. At certain periods during the May marketing activity the Central Kentucky average was as much as $4.00 above national average. In 1952 the Kentucky average for spring lambs was $28.10 per hundred pounds while the national average was $25.20.

The four Central Kentucky marketing centers handled 180,892 head in 1953. These animals averaged 81.1 pounds per head and sold for an average of $25.94 per hundredweight, realizing growers a total of $3,686,257. In addition, these markets sold 12,842 head of ewes and rams for an average price of $5.34 per hundred pounds totaling $68,648.

Agriculture Commissioner Ben S. Adams announced that the Department will have a market reporter on the four Central Kentucky selling centers this year.

This is the 1954 Chevrolet Bel Air 2-Door Sedan. With 3 series, Chevrolet offers a model to meet every individual and family need.

These facts about the New Chevrolet can help you make an important decision

Don't you agree that buying a new car calls for careful consideration? Regardless of make, it involves a substantial amount of money and a lot of future satisfaction. This information can give you a better idea of comparative value and help you decide which make to buy.

A good customer of ours was telling us the other day how he sizes up a new car. Because he's bought a number of them over the years, we were interested in what he had to say. We think you will be, too.

Actually, what he does is to ask about seven basic questions. The answers give a pretty complete picture of the car and its comparative value. Here's what he wants to know.

How well do I like its looks?
That's one question, of course, that only you can answer. You're the one who buys the car and you, above anybody else, should be proud of its appearance.

All we can tell you is that we hear a lot of nice things about Chevrolet's new styling. People seem to like the new front-end and rear-end designs, and the way the bumpers curve even farther around the fenders. They like the new styling touches all around the car and the wide choice of bright new colors and two-tone combinations. A good many tell us that Chevrolet has a decided edge over the other cars in its field for smooth and graceful lines.

Who makes the body?
This question takes in much more territory than the appearance of the car. It involves the quality of the interior as well as the strength and safety of the body construction. That's why we think it worth your consideration that Chevrolet has the only Body by Fisher in the low-price field.

You can see the difference outside and inside. We'd especially like you to look over the new interiors. Just sit in the car, if you will. Feel the quality of the fabrics and notice the more generous use of vinyl trim.

In all these ways, you'll find evidence of superior quality and workmanship. And after all, isn't that what you would expect in Body by Fisher? As you know, Fisher is the largest and most famous manufacturer of automobile bodies in the world. Doesn't it stand to reason that Fisher can build extra quality into the Chevrolet body? It's there and you can see it.

What's under the hood?
You hear a great deal of talk these days about engine power. The truth is that the number of horsepower isn't nearly as important as what the horsepower does for you.

In this year's Chevrolet, you get increased power in two finer engines. There's the "Blue-Flame 135" engine teamed with Powerglide automatic transmission and optional on all models at extra cost. In gearshift models, you get the more powerful "Blue-Flame 115" engine.

But, actually, the increase in horsepower is only a sort of by-product of design changes made for other reasons. Chevrolet engineers were after greater engine efficiency, not just greater power. So, you get improved acceleration, with greater and safer passing ability. You get quieter, smoother operation. You climb the steep hills with new ease.

How hungry is it for gasoline?
A car's reputation for, and record of, economy of operation is certainly an important consideration to most people. We'd be glad to have you compare Chevrolet in this respect with any car at any price.

And, in the case of this new Chevrolet, you do not have to sacrifice economy for finer performance and more horsepower. That's because the Chevrolet engines are high-compression engines. Their compression ratio of 7.5 to 1 is the highest in any of the leading low-priced cars.

This means simply that the engine compresses, or squeezes, the fuel mixture to a greater degree in order to bring more work out of it. That's how Chevrolet is able to give you an important gain in performance along with money-saving gasoline mileage — and on regular gas, of course.

Is it up to date in features?
We can't think of a new feature or development you might want that you can't have on the new Chevrolet.

Now you can have Chevrolet's zippy and thrifty Powerglide automatic transmission on any model. You can have Power Steering on all models and at a new, lower price. You can have Automatic Window and Seat Controls on any Bel Air or "Two-Ten" model, and you can have Power Brakes on any model equipped with Powerglide. All are, of course, optional features at extra cost.

How popular a car is it?
When you come right down to it, there's no better way to judge the satisfaction a car gives its owners than by its popularity. How many people buy it and keep on buying it?

Well, as you may know, Chevrolet is by far the most popular car in this country. That's true today and it's been true for a good many years now. But it couldn't be true—or wouldn't be true—unless Chevrolet gave its owners an extra measure of satisfaction and value.

How much does it cost?
There's a short, sweet answer to that one: Chevrolet is priced below all other lines of cars. This lower cost is made possible by the greater production facilities and purchasing power of the world's largest manufacturer of automobiles. That's why Chevrolet can offer you all the advantages we've told you about here—and many more, too.

We'd be more than glad to have you see all these things for yourself and to try out this new Chevrolet on the road. We'll be happy to see you at any time.

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The man who won the New York Critics' Circle nod this week as the author of the best American play of the 1953-54 season is properly appreciative of the honor, but he wants the public to know that he has another distinction.

"I think that I am," said John Patrick, author of The Teahouse of the August Moon, the prize-winner, "the only Broadway playwright who drives the tractor on his own practical farm and gets up in the middle of the night to serve as midwife for some rather

SYMPATHY PAINS FOR HER DOLL

De GASPERI WINS LIBEL SUIT

ALCIDE De GASPERI (right), former Premier of Italy, is shown on the witness stand in Milan as he testified in his libel suit against Giovanni Guareschi (left), editor of a weekly publication. Guareschi had published a letter signed with the name of De Gasperi, purporting to be a request to the Allies to bomb Rome during World War II. De Gasperi said the signature was forged. The court believed him and sentenced the newsmen to a year in jail. (International Radiophoto)

USE 'TOY' A-BOMBS AT MANEUVERS

THE ARMY HAS DEVELOPED "toy" A-bombs to train its soldiers in atomic age warfare. In Exercise "Snowstorm" at Camp Drum, N.Y., a simulated atomic explosion device (top) leaves the launching platform in a cloud of smoke. In the photo at center, left, the "toy" bomb begins to burst. At right, it is shown forming a plume mushroom. At bottom, Capt. William C. Clark (left), Maj. Benjamin Cook (right), and Felix Crucci, examine fins of the simulated atomic explosion device. (U. S. # The Garden

By John S. Gardner
University of Kentucky

The cultivation of parsnips, salsify, beets and carrots, as with all vegetables, is just to stop weeds, and is best done before the weeds get big enough to interfere with the crop. Because root vegetables customarily make few side roots, cultivation may be close to the row, but should be kept shallow to miss all roots.

The pests of these vegetables are few; only fleabeetles at seedling time and some of the "general feeders" later. The control is 50 percent Methoxychlor, two level tablespoons per gallon of water, or a pound to 50 gallons. Or a 5-percent Methoxychlor dust may be used. Spray for fleabeetles just as soon as the seed is up, as this insect can do serious damage in a short time.

In some old gardens, there is trouble with "lumpy root," the work of eelworms, nematodes. Usually, rotating crops is effective against this trouble, sweet corn being immune to most nematodes, but if the trouble is garden-wide, only fumigation is the cure. As to this, information may be had from county extension agents or from the Experiment Station, Lexington.

Almost no diseases bother these root crops, except, only sometimes, blight on salsify, that can usually be traced to too-close working. Any of the materials recommended for tomato blight will control salsify blight, usually in one application.

Tried varieties are Hollow Crown and Guernsey (shorter) parsnips; Mammoth Sandwich Island salsify; Danvers Half-Long and Red-cored Chantenay (shorter) carrots; and Dark Strain Crosby's Early Egyptian beets, a shallow globe type.

FIRE AS 'RISK' AFTER 23 YEARS

"I FEEL as if I'm living in a dream," 43-year-old Abraham Chasnow (seated) said in Washington on being fired by the U. S. Navy as a security risk after 23 years' service. Chasnow was suspended from his $5,360-a-year post last July, was cleared by a Navy board in October, and learned April 7 that an appeals board had overruled the October decision. Grouped around Chasnow are friends and backers from his Greenbelt, Md., community. From left: Charles T. McDonald, city manager; Mrs. Winfield McCamy, city clerk; Rev. Eric Braund, Greenbelt Community church minister; George J. Panagoulis, public safety director; Mayor Frank J. Lastner. (International Soundphoto)

KNUCKLES DOWN, POP!

BEARDED GEORGE (POP) MAYNARD, 83, takes a shot in the ancient marble championships held on Tinsley Green, England, every spring. Contestants this year were the home team, the Tinsley Tigers, and a U. S. Navy "task force," the Grovenor Bullets. Captained by Pop, the Tigers won, 33-16. Pop is flanked by U. S. Navy Yeomen R. Murphy (left) of Bradford, Pa., and W. Smith of Fort Knox, Ky., captain of the Navy team. (International)

CAMEO

by HELEN TOPPING MILLER

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

JULIA led to the bathroom. She was washing at her hair to get the color of an anasthetist out of it when she heard the voice. John-Mark's voice, and then another voice—Ravel. The corridor opened on the tiny bathroom and John-Mark stepped out into the room.

"Hi!" she greeted them.

"Hi yourself," said John-Mark.

Mrs. Ravel, definitely flustered, as getting more silver out of a drawer, "we have another guest about as Julia came back into the room.

Ravel was perched on the arm of the couch.

"I crashed the party," she said

thighs. "When Johnny told me he was invited to supper I came bring me along. I knew Mamma must love to have me

come."

John-Mark turned from the coat where he had been hanging a coat. "I couldn't get rid of her sort of wringing her neck," he said, "but if you say the word,

Mr. Ravel, I'll toss her out the window."

Mrs. Ravel put on an extra ate and a pink. "My granddaughters are always welcome in my house," she said a trifle stiffly.

"Very welcome, since their visits are more or less rare. I don't know Ravel has ever been in this apartment before—have you? And she lived here five years?"

"You were up on the sixth or the last time I came."

"The elevator is rather unreliable, so I moved down to the cond floor. Now I find the stairs are trying, so I shall move down the ground floor as soon as there is a vacancy."

John-Mark pulled up chairs and led Mrs. Ravel gravely. Ravel led to have her chair pushed up, Julia saw, giving John-Mark

a little proprietary smile.

"Don't wait for me," Julia said.

It was the maid. Beside the maid, Mrs. Ravel here, I look like that. That's a new dress, isn't it,

I don't care to go out at night, but I do enjoy a good game of bridge."

"Make Dooley stick around and play with you, Mamma Harriet."

"Oh, I couldn't. I've never learned to play a good game.

We're always so dead at night that if we aren't on duty we just kick off our shoes and stretch out on our beds with a book."

Mrs. Ravel sat still when they were gone. "Well, it was a good trip, anyway," she said presently.

"Help me pick up this stuff, will you? I still say the man's in love with you. Why do you do nothing about it, while she snatches him right under your nose?"

Julia gathered up the silver mechanically. She frowned because she had no answer. Why was she letting Ravel get away with this pre-empting John-Mark, being sweetly insolent about it? It would be so simple to say: "All right,

Johnny, I give."

"I think, it's my fault, Mamma

Harriet," she confessed after a little silence. "I ought to love

Johnny. I don't know why I'm not sure. On Christmas Day I thought

I was sure... Now... I don't know."

Julia walked slowly back to the hospital. Work was the important thing, after all. The sensible thing was to put men out of her mind and be free from all these conflicting and contradictory emotions.

Learn all there was to learn in the few months she had left. She was feeling very noble about this idea

as she went through the draughty lower hall. Then the girl at the chart desk called her name. "Miss

Taber, there's someone asking for you. In the little reception-room."

Julia walked down the corridor to the small waiting-room, and four or five people looked up hopefully as she came in, immediately dropped their eyes patiently. Relatively. Anxious and miserable.

From a settee in a corner a girl jumped up. "Oh, Dooley!" It was

Mao Tse Tung Now Back In Old Stand

By PHIL NEWSOM

United Press Foreign News Editor

Red China's dictator, 60-year-old Mao Tse Tung, apparently is back at the same old stand.

It had been three months since Red publications or broadcasts made any mention of Mao's attending a public function, and speculation had mounted that he either was seriously ill or dead.

But this week the New China news agency said in a Peking dispatch that Mao had presided at the first meeting of a committee delegated to write a new national constitution. The dispatch took on unusual significance since it was played up in especially large type by Red newspapers.

Only other recent report on Mao had come March 16 when it was announced he had sent birthday greetings to Kim Il Bong, president of the standing committee of North Korea's Supreme People's Assembly.

Speculation about Mao's "illness" was heightened by rumors that a high-level purge was about to sweep Red China.

The latter rumors gained impetus a month ago as result of a speech by a man regarded as a possible rival to Mao.

This man was 48-year-old Liu Shao-Chi, a Moscow-trained jack-of-all-trades who is one of six vice-chairmen of the central people's government. Liu has a military background and has had a finger in almost every pie the Chinese Communists have baked in their long drive for conquest.

Liu took over as chief speaker at the fourth plenary congress of the Chinese Communist Party in February and warned of traitors even in the highest ranks of the party.

In Mao's absence, the warnings seemed especially noteworthy. Today the relationship between Liu and Mao is the unknown quantity.

Mao's prestige in Red China is unquestioned. But his health also is known to be precarious.

He is known to suffer from high blood pressure and also suffers from ailments contracted during his long and arduous fight against Nationalist leader Chiang Kai shek.

Meanwhile, during his absence from the public eye, many of his functions were taken over by the younger, more energetic Liu.

'HONEST JOHN' TESTS LAUNCHER

A NEW, test-type launcher is tested at the White Sands proving ground, N. M., by "Honest John," the U. S. Army's free flight artillery rocket, capable of carrying atomic or high explosive warheads. It is for tactical use to provide close fire support in ground combat operations. The launcher is highly mobile and self-propelled. The rocket has no electronic controls. (International)

EDITORS HEAR PROS AND CONS

House Majority Leader Charles Halleck (R), Indiana, at the podium, and House Democratic Whip John W. McCormack (D), Massachusetts, debate "The Record of the Administration's First 15 Months in Office." Halleck cited the Korean truce, spending and tax cuts, military "new look." McCormack said the record is one of "broken promises" and "confused thinking."

"We are not now headed for a depression," said Treasury Secretary George Humphrey (right). He is shown being introduced by Basil Walters of Chicago, society president. THESE ARE SCENES from three-day meeting of American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington. (International Soundphotos)
